WE'RE REBRANDING AND EXPANDING!

The staff at Waukesha Civic Theatre has been working diligently on expanding and rebranding the theatre. You may have noticed the new logos that will be used on all of our future content as well as our new website that is set to launch this summer! You may also have heard that we recently purchased the Clock Shop on Main Street this past spring! We can't announce our plans for it just yet, but know that there are a lot of very exciting projects in the works to allow WCT to continue to serve the Waukesha Community. If you would like to stay up to date with our expansion project and rebranding, keep an eye on our social media and our website.

ABOUT WCT

Our Mission: Entertain, Enrich, and Challenge

Waukesha Civic Theatre has undergone many positive changes since its beginnings in 1957 with productions at Waukesha High School. In 1999, WCT moved from a former church to a beautiful new facility in the heart of historic downtown Waukesha. The building, a former historic PIX movie house, was donated to WCT by Bryce Styza, a prominent local developer who saw the power that the theatre could exert in revitalizing downtown. In July of 2006, Waukesha Civic Theatre began its 50th season. With that historic season, WCT joined an elite group: according to the American Association of Community Theatres, of the roughly 7,000 community theatres in the United States, only about 100 can claim 50 years of continuous operation.
